

Dear [name of person or Sir or Madam]:

I am completing an undergraduate honors paper at Emory University entitled "[title of your honors paper]." I would like your permission to reprint in my honors paper the following images:

[name of each image and description]

If your organization wants to be acknowledged as the source of the image(s), please provide your preferred form of acknowledgement below:

The requested permission extends to any future revisions and editions of my honors paper, including non-exclusive world rights in all languages, and to the inclusion of my honors paper the Emory University Electronic Theses and Dissertations (ETD) repository, an open access repository available on the world wide web. These rights will in no way restrict republication of the material in any other form by you or by others authorized by you.

If you do not control the copyright on all of the above mentioned material, I would appreciate any contact information you can give me regarding the proper rights holder(s), including current address(es). Otherwise, your signature below confirms that you hold the rights to grant the permission requested here.

If you require any additional information, please do not hesitate to contact me. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

[Your signature, name and contact information]

Instructions for permission letters:

1. This sample permissions letter was created for email. If you plan to mail a letter by post, be sure to include your return address, telephone and fax numbers, and date at the top of the letter.
2. A blank or words in brackets indicate a place where you need to fill in information before sending the permissions email.
3. Spare no effort in confirming the exact name and address of the addressee.
4. State clearly the name of your university and the title of your thesis or dissertation.
5. Describe precisely the proposed use of the copyrighted material. If necessary or appropriate, attach a copy of the quotations, diagrams, pictures, and other materials. Your objective is to eliminate any ambiguity and to be sure the permission encompasses the full scope of your needs.
6. For More Information About Permissions. Various organizations grant permissions for certain types of works. For example, the Copyright Clearance Center offers a "Republication Licensing Service" for text materials that may prove helpful: www.copyright.com.
7. Retain a copy of the signed permission letter in your files in case a question comes up in the future regarding your use of the excerpted work.
